

ATHENS INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT
PASSENGER TRAFFIC DEVELOPMENT 2011

PASSENGER TRAFFIC	Domestic			International			Total
	2011	2010	%2011/ 2010	2011	2010	%2011/ 2010	2011	2010	%2011/ 2010
January	323,875	451,368	-28.2%	573,434	600,335	-4.5%	897,309	1,051,703	-14.7%
February	306,521	416,396	-26.4%	488,724	536,349	-8.9%	795,245	952,745	-16.5%
March	351,233	447,571	-21.5%	626,593	718,399	-12.8%	977,826	1,165,970	-16.1%
April	409,780	478,337	-14.3%	816,772	780,694	4.6%	1,226,552	1,259,031	-2.6%
May	447,570	479,591	-6.7%	886,982	867,148	2.3%	1,334,552	1,346,739	-0.9%
June	483,687	491,096	-1.5%	981,063	945,761	3.7%	1,464,750	1,436,857	1.9%
July	549,876	568,361	-3.3%	1,144,207	1,130,935	1.2%	1,694,083	1,699,296	-0.3%
August	533,126	555,994	-4.1%	1,130,118	1,158,245	-2.4%	1,663,244	1,714,239	-3.0%
September	486,069	504,733	-3.7%	990,345	1,003,214	-1.3%	1,476,414	1,507,947	-2.1%
October	398,792	439,360	-9.2%	804,642	874,802	-8.0%	1,203,434	1,314,162	-8.4%
November	302,250	380,112	-20.5%	544,340	609,713	-10.7%	846,590	989,825	-14.5%
December	304,623	343,746	-11.4%	562,349	628,839	-10.6%	866,972	972,585	-10.9%
Total Year	4,897,402	5,556,665	-11.9%	9,549,569	9,854,434	-3.1%	14,446,971	15,411,099	-6.3%

With the adverse macroeconomic climate in 2011 affecting significantly the indices of the Greek economy, and subsequently air travel demand, mainly in the domestic sector, Athens International Airport's passenger traffic managed to present limited losses at the level of 6.3%, mostly as a result of the resilience of international markets to the adverse trends. The negative publicity that Greece and its capital city attracted, has also influenced the year-end traffic, combined with the negative economic trends.

More specifically, the year 2011 ended for the airport with 14.45 million passengers, experiencing a decline of 6.3% compared to the prior year. This outcome is mainly attributed to the sharp drop of the domestic sector (-11.9%), whereas international air travellers presented only limited losses (-3.1%).